Quality Of Life Worksheet

Using a scale of 1-poor to 10-best for each category below, how would you rate your pet.

Over 35 points is considered an acceptable quality of life.

Under 35 points is poor quality of life and medical care should be improved or you should consider euthanasia.

The HHHHMM Scale is used to assess Quality of Life to determine the success of 'pawspice' care. Score patients using a scale of 1 to 10 for each category.

SCORE CRITERION / CATEGORIES

- 0 TO 10 HURT - Adequate pain control, including breathing ability, is first and foremost on the scale. Is the pet's pain successfully managed? Is oxygen necessary?
- 0 TO 10 HUNGER - Is the pet eating enough? Does hand feeding help? Does the patient require a feeding tube?
- 0 TO 10 HYDRATION - Is the patient dehydrated? For patients not drinking enough, use subcutaneous fluids once or twice daily to supplement fluid intake.
- 0 TO 10 HYGIENE - The patient should be brushed and cleaned, particularly after elimination. Avoid pressure sores and keep all wounds clean.
- 0 TO 10 HAPPINESS - Does the pet express joy and interest? Is the pet responsive to things around him or her (family, toys, etc.)? Is the pet depressed, lonely, anxious, bored or afraid? Can the pet's bed be close to the family activities and not be isolated?
- 0 TO 10 MOBILITY - Can the patient get up without assistance? Does the pet need human or mechanical help (e.g. a cart)? Does the pet feel like going for a walk? Is the pet having seizures or stumbling? (Some caregivers feel euthanasia is preferable to amputation, yet an animal who has limited mobility but is still alert and responsive can have a good quality of life as long as caregivers are committed to helping the pet.)
- 0 TO 10 MORE GOOD DAYS THAN BAD - When bad days outnumber good days, quality of life might be compromised. When a healthy human-animal bond is no longer possible, the caregiver must be made aware the end is near. The decision needs to be made if the pet is suffering. If death comes peacefully and painlessly, that is okay.

*TOTAL= *A total of more than 35 points is acceptable for a good pawspice
